- Nicene Creed
  We believe in one God, the Father, the Almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all that is seen and unseen.
  We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ, the only Son of God, eternally begotten of the Father, God from God, Light from Light, true God of true God, begotten, not made, one in Being with the Father. Through Him all things were made. For us men and for our salvation, He came down from heaven. By the power of the Holy Spirit, He was born of the Virgin Mary and became man.
  For our sake He was crucified under Pontius Pilate, He suffered, died, and was buried. On the third day He rose again in fulfillment of the Scriptures. He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead, and His kingdom will have no end.
  We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son. With the Father and Son, He is worshiped and glorified. He has spoken through the prophets. We believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church. We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins. We look for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

A Note from Fr. Marty

Last week’s Gospel presented Jesus’ asking His friends who they thought he was. Peter stated boldly that Jesus indeed was the Christ and the “Son of the Living God”. What we hear today are the very next verses of Matthew’s dramatic script. Peter is involved once more and seems to be flexing the power of being the Rock.

Jesus is presenting to His friends the real meaning of what it is going to mean to be the Christ and the Son of God. He will have to show up in Jerusalem and Peter has a better idea.

Jesus uses this tense moment to say that He has to suffer and die. There is a deep reality to Jesus’ being the Christ, and a deeper reality of the disciples’ being followers of the Christ. Jesus invites them to follow Him by their being faithful to their relationship with Him which has made them who they are.

We who are followers of Jesus, who proclaim, Peter-like, that Jesus is the Son of God, are not seduced nor fooled. We believe and struggle with the verticality of our souls and the horizontality of our human creatureliness. The cross is not an event of time, but the time-bound movement toward our own Jerusalems and resurrections. “Get up!” the voice said to Jeremiah, to Jesus, to Peter, and to each of us who hobble after the Master. We show up, waiting for Him to show up and raise us all, and that is the “conduct” of holiness.

Pope urges more than a million youths to discover power of faith

COLOGNE, Germany -- At a World Youth Day vigil August 20 and a closing Mass the next day, Pope Benedict XVI preached about the inspiration of the saints and the mystery of the Eucharist, encouraging the youths to change themselves if they want to change the world. "Only from the saints, only from God does true revolution come," he told a vast candlelit crowd outside Cologne. The pope's emphasis on the saints resonated with many in his young audience. The pope said the saints represent "the shining path which God himself has traced throughout history." They are the world's true reformers and have taught Christians that love, not ideologies, will save the world, he said. The pope also cautioned young people to avoid constructing a "private God" or a "private Jesus," but to trust the church as the place where believers come together in a real communion. "There is much that could be criticized in the church," but it remains the "great family of God" that unites all peoples and cultures, he said.
